Summary

I am an Innovative Software Engineer, Frontend Web, Backend Web Engineer, Web Designer, Broadcast Producer, Blogger and Creative writer, with a wealth of experience within the IT/programming world and all aspects of broadcast production.

Apart from my above stated abilities, I am also a visionary creator, researcher, content developer, creative writer, storyteller and documentary and feature film maker, with demonstrated ability to take an idea from concept to delivery.

Furthermore, I also possess a collaborative attribute in retrospect to working closely with strategic and creative teams to develop not only software and IT related endeavours but also produce quality broadcast and creative contents, which are deemed fit for public consumption.

Though, barely 2 years into Tech/web development, I have been able to surmount some of my expectations and limits, as demonstrated recently by my inclusion into the list of 250 finalists, out of over 14 thousand Software developers, Mobile Application Developers, UI/UX Designers, DevOps, Frontend Developers and, Backend Web Engineers across the globe, at the HNGi8 Internship.
